Jennifer James is well known to audiences around the world for her unique ability to synthesize the chaos and transition of our current times, put it in perspective and equip us with innovative ideas and tools to help us maneuver into the future!

Once you have heard Jennifer describe the technological, economic, demographic and cultural transformations of this era, your mind clears. Her ability to provide an understanding of the present and the future is essential to thoughtful decision-making in education, healthcare and organizational management.

Come explore:

- New thinking skills and lenses for the future, including "seeing with new eyes", "critical thinking", "the ability to change and help others change", "diversity IQ" and more.
- Cultural intelligence, the ability to "unpack" the stories we have been told about who we are and what we do, examine them and replace them with new information.

Jennifer James is an urban cultural anthropologist, who was a faculty member at the University of Washington for 12 years. She now uses her unique understanding, knowledge and tools for our time as an international lecturer and author. She lives in Seattle, Washington.
