

The Reading Together Educational Forum

Making Change: the Story of our Lives

Thursday Jan 25, 12-2
CML (Building 19) Rm 104

What do we, as individuals, a culture, or a society, do when our story doesn't work anymore? How do we change our story? How do we conceive a new vision? How do we implement it? How do we determine if it is sustainable? workable?

You are invited to engage in an interactive forum which will employ this year's Reading Together books to help us explore the process of change. This discussion should prove stimulating, whether you have read both, one, or none of the Reading Together books. We'll be handing out summaries, giving adequate context, and introducing subjects and ideas that have relevance far beyond the world of the books. You should expect lively discussions among all who attend.

People are welcome to come late or leave early as schedule permits. If you need disability accommodations in order to attend or participate in this event, please contact Disability Services (541) 463-5150 (voice) or 463-3079 (TTY) at least one week in advance.
